

SEXUAL IDENTITY

FALSE IDENTITY

Who we are (essence) impacts how we live (ethics), and how we live impacts who we are.

Being gay is no longer what I'm attracted to, what I desire, or what I do —it's who I am.

Sexuality should not be who we are, but how we are.

We cannot properly understand human sexuality unless we begin with theological anthropology.

Theological Anthropology

- I. Rebukes the arrogant condemners
- II. Avoids a common, incorrect diagnosis
- III. Answers the born gay question
